

ELECT. DIRECTORS AND PAY DIVIDEND

Stockholders of North Carolina
Railroad Hold Annual Meeting at Greensboro.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
GREENSBORO, N. C., July 9.—At the semiannual meeting of the stockholders of the North Carolina Railroad here today the following were re-elected directors: W. E. Holt, of Charlotte; General R. F. Hoke, of Beaufort; Cameron, of Raleigh; Hugh McRae, of Wilmington. The officers and directors on the part of the State, reappointed by Governor Glenn are: Hugh Chandler, of Elkin; president, A. H. Elder, of Winston; treasurer, R. A. Doughton, of Sparta; attorney, L. M. Michaux, of Greensboro; proxy chairman, T. C. Pope, of Greensboro; special State proxy, C. D. Benbow, private proxy, and the following directors: Mr. Williamson, of Newton; John Lambeth, of Thomasville; W. T. Brown, of Winston; L. Ruffin, of Hillsboro; T. H. Vandorfer, of Salisbury. Checks were drawn for the payment of one-half the 7 per cent. dividend declared at the January meeting.

The Southern Railway, lessee of the road, was absolved from obligation to reduce the rate of interest on the several years ago paying one-half the insurance of $8,000 collected, and giving the State a quit claim for the lot. The lot is worth $15,000, and will be sold for the benefit of the State and private stockholders.

ON TOUR OF INSPECTION.

Receivers of Norfolk and Southern Making Examination of Property.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
RALEIGH, N. C., July 9.—Thomas Fitzgerald, Harry K. Woolcott and Hugh M. Kerr, receivers of the Norfolk and Southern Railway Company, with a party of subordinate officials, spent the greater part of the day here on a tour of inspection over the system, taking a look at the physical and rolling stock conditions. They were in conference this forenoon for some time with Judge Thomas R. Purnell and Clark H. L. Grant, of the United States District and Circuit Courts here, but it was stated that there was no significance especially connected with the conference.

Members of the party other than the receivers are: H. C. Hodgins, freight and passenger agent; Fred L. Merritt, land and industrial agent; W. M. McGuire, general superintendent; J. E. Gould, superintendent of motive power; P. L. Nicholson, engineer of maintenance of ways.

The officials started on the trip Monday. To-morrow they will take in the sections of the road south of Albemarle Sound and conclude the inspection on Saturday. The receivers expressed themselves as much pleased with the conditions as they find them.

Negro Murderer Escapes.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
RALEIGH, N. C., July 9.—Frazier Jones has escaped from the penitentiary at Raleigh, and is at present in Hyde county. Jones was under sentence to be hanged in Greensboro for wife murder, and in the effort to secure commutation for him there were five or more reprieves granted by Governor Glenn. The commutation was finally granted, and the negro began the service of his life term February 13th last. He is reported to have been a model prisoner up to the time of his escape. A fellow prisoner, James Joyce, escaped with him, his being a ten-year term for assault.

FIRE IN LAWRENCEVILLE.

Dwelling of Mr. Mallory Turnbull
Burned in Early Morning.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
LAWRENCEVILLE, N. C., July 9.—Mr. J. Mallory Turnbull's dwelling house here was burned early yesterday morning. The building and contents are a total loss, amounting to about $2,200, and there was $1,100 insurance.

Mr. Turnbull and a servant were the only inmates at the time of the fire. Mrs. Turnbull and the children were spending the night at Mr. R. B. Turnbull's. A short time before the fire was discovered Mr. Turnbull heard a noise in the rear of the building, and thinking it was the servant, as it was about time for her to be getting up, he did not pay any particular attention to it. However, when Mr. Turnbull went into the rear of the house he discovered that the weatherboarding on the east side of the kitchen was on fire. The origin is unknown.

BRYAN'S CHANCES ARE GOOD.

Virginia Man Finds Settlement Up North
Very Favorable.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 9.—Mr. Howell Miller, of Rappahannock county, was here today on his way home from Atlantic City and Philadelphia. "I talked with people from a great many States in the past few weeks," said Mr. Miller, "and was surprised and gratified, of course, to find so many Democrats predicting victory for this fall. There is manifest an air of hopefulness among Democrats which has not been seen in a long time. I believe we have at least as good a chance to elect Bryan as the Republicans have to elect Taft."

WOMAN'S NIGHTMARE

No woman can be happy without children; it is her nature to love them as much so as it is the beautiful and pure. The ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass is so fraught with dread that the very thought fills her with apprehension. There is no necessity for the reproduction of life to be either very painful or dangerous. The use of Mother's Friend prepares the system for the coming event, and it is passed without any danger. This remedy is applied externally, and has carried thousands of women through the crisis with but little suffering.

Write for book containing information of value to all expectant mothers.

THE DAY IN WALL STREET

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

NEW YORK, July 9.—The bears continued today that there was a good deal of manipulation in the movement of prices, and not even the most promising bull attempted to deny it. There was a large amount of manipulation in the market, as there always is, except at times when there is little or nothing of any kind as was the case during the whole of last week. It is manipulation that generally starts a market. It is discovered that selling can be forced, or buying induced, by aggressive operations on the one side or the other, and the manipulation is applied. If prices respond well to the manipulation, a following is likely to be secured, and then the success of the operation becomes practically assured. If the following is not secured, the manipulation is abandoned, and must be abandoned. Whether that stage was reached today was a question which the bears answered in the affirmative, and the bulls answered not at all. The commission houses were inclined to advise their customers to wait and see if the bears were right.

It was rather strange that in a number of houses the fact should be commented upon as something inexplicable that, while there were no stocks for sale a week ago, there seemed to be enough to go around now. There was, of course, no mystery of any kind about the change. Prices had advanced, and the higher prices brought out stocks. The buyers' prices of a week ago did not meet the holders' views, so no business was done. In the present week the buyers advanced their bids to where these met the views of some of the holders of stock, and sales resulted. It was just as if a man spent a week going around the stores trying to buy shoes or a hat at his own prices and without regard to the higher values which the dealers put upon their wares. So long as he kept below the prices he had no purchase, but when he came to the level which they thought fair, he could get in five minutes more than enough to last him a lifetime.

Apart from the effect of higher prices in increasing the supply of stocks, there is always the possibility that the same apparent effect may be produced by the very factor that the bears seem to think only applied to produce the opposite result. The bulls may resort to manipulation for the purpose of making the market appear weaker than it really is at certain times, just as at others they resort to the same process to give an appearance of strength that is by no means genuine. When it is thought good policy to shake out a weak bull following or to encourage the growth of a short interest selling of a kind, the traders cannot fail to take notice of it, and may be resorted to, and, perhaps, without allowing prices to decline much, the technical position of the market may be improved, affording the bulls an opportunity to resume their operations for the advance, with better prospects of success than before.

Not since the announcement of the declaration of the initial dividend on Southern Pacific and the increase of the rate on Union Pacific to 10 per cent. a year has Wall Street been treated to such a genuine dividend surprise as the declaration of the regular rate for the second half of the year on the common stock of Baltimore and Ohio.

When the announcement was made by the Wall Street news agencies, some brokers thought a typographical error must have been made, others asked: "What does 'Foolish agent' mean?" and fearing a repetition of what occurred in Southern Pacific and Union Pacific in August, 1906, started buying the stock in order to cover outstanding shorts.

An official explanation of the action of the Baltimore and Ohio directors in declaring a dividend at the full rate said that, although the earnings for the year fell short of the requirements of the per cent. distributed, the short-ago could be made up, still leaving the amount of this item as large as $18,000,000. Brokers wondered if it was intended to convey the idea that the road was possessed of such a large amount of ready money, a suggestion hardly compatible with the fact that the company only a few weeks ago sold $7,500,000 bonds of various issues to bankers here and in Baltimore.

Now that the Union Pacific interests are credited with maintaining the dividend on Baltimore and Ohio, less is likely to be heard of a reduction of the rate on Southern Pacific. The amount of Baltimore and Ohio common stock which Union Pacific holds is only $32,324,000, while it owns $90,000,000 Southern Pacific common.

Years ago, at a period of doubt and uncertainty, an increase in the dividend on Baltimore and Ohio proved a great stimulus to sentiment on the ground that as the board included representatives of practically every great financial interest, the course adopted was equivalent to a guarantee by all the leading authorities that both in the financial and the railroad worlds there was fair weather and plain sailing ahead. Included in the board are representatives of the Standard Oil party and of the three leading of private bankers, as well as of the two great railroad systems, Union Pacific and Pennsylvania, whose combined holdings embrace nearly half of the stock of the road.

American Smelting and Refining made a large gain in an active stock. It was strong and active all day and was more talked of than any other security in the industrial list. It was to its influence that the strength of the other metal stocks, Anaconda, copper, Anaconda and National Lead were commonly ascribed. It rose to $43.8, an advance of 2-7/8 points from Wednesday's closing, and of 8 points from the low of Friday last, and ended the day at practically its highest figure. There was little that was new on the stock market concerning itself mainly with the character of the buying, which was said to be excellent and it was evident that the way the bull tip on the stock first heard at the inception of the movement on Friday last, had made good, and no means without effect in increasing the receptivity of the trading element for that kind of information.

There was, if anything, a better market for bonds than for stocks, and the prices of the former were not affected to any appreciable extent by the reactions which in the latter followed one another at frequent intervals during the forenoon. No high records were made by the Union Pacific, Southern and the new Pennsylvania issues and even where there were no gains of consequence in quotations, a stronger tone was manifested.

MANY APPLY FOR PLACES

No Vacancies in the Canal Zone, but Applications Pouring In.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 9.—It was stated at the offices of the Isthmian Canal Commission today that there were no positions of any character vacant in the canal zone. Despite this fact, there are constant applications for employment being received from all over the country, and the labor agents of the commission in various cities report that the demand for places under the commission is greater than ever before. The extraordinary rush for positions is thought to be due to the hard times.

Despite the abundance of labor and the long list of eligibles, the commission is keeping the labor agents in the field in order that there may be no embarrassment at any time because of inability to get men to do the work needed. Applications are still being received and filed in the Washington office also. None of the positions in the canal zone are in the classified service, except those of clerk, stenographer and typewriter, bookkeeper, draughtsman, physician, interne and trained nurse. Applications made in the United States for positions outside of the classified service must be submitted on the regular forms, substantiated by such evidence of the ability of the applicant as he is able to give. If the evidence submitted does not prove the qualifications claimed to the satisfaction of the Washington office, the labor agent in whose section the applicant resides will be directed to make an investigation. Each applicant whose case is under investigation will be informed in advance of the arrival at the city nearest his home, of the labor agent assigned to his district, in order that he may have an opportunity to visit the agent and prove the qualifications claimed.

THE BRANDING SUIT.

Petition for Rehearing to Be Argued.

To Bring Another Split.

CINCINNATI, O., July 9.—Arguments on the petition for a rehearing of the case of the Clifton Springs Distilling Company vs. Bernard Bettman, as internal revenue collector, et al., which was decided adversely to the complainant on June 29th by Judge Sater, will be heard by United States Judge A. C. Thompson, on July 14th.

The distilling interests believe that there is a chance to have the decision of Judge Sater set aside, and they use his suggestion that a fuller hearing might have developed other matters, but the time was too short to have them heard on June 30th.

The announced suit of the Union Distilling Company against Collector Bettman and the government gaugers was filed in the Federal court today.
